

Exploring French Architecture Through Stamps

I have always had interest in visiting France and a passion for exploring French Architecture. With Covid-19 at the top of the news, what better way to take a trip to France and explore French Architecture than through stamps. My travel begins on this page with the West side of France moving clockwise around the country. Enjoy!